

Breakfast Blessing

We were looking at the story of the post resurrection appearance of Jesus to his disciples on the beach by the Sea of Tiberias so the communion table was spread with a blue gingham tablecloth underneath a bright pink portable BBQ and tongs! It seemed perfectly natural to share, what I remember as being a rather sticky, breakfast together during the service. This was the blessing we closed the service with amidst the bread crumbs and jam splodges.

May the blessing of the God who walks beside a lake on a misty morning be with us.

May the blessing of the Son who encourages his friends to keep putting out their nets be with us.

May the blessing of the Spirit who draws us together to share breakfast on a beach be with us.

Walk with us,
draw us together,
encourage us,
and send us out
to share your stories, to share your generosity to share your laughter, now and forever more.

©Clare McBeath & Tim Presswood, 2008