

Your Silence Speaks

Your silence speaks
as outside rage the wind and waves

Your silence speaks
in a world of noise and fury

Your silence speaks
against the blasts and screams of violence

Your silence speaks
in a church of clever words and noisy songs

Your silence speaks
through the pounding headache of someone else's music

Your silence speaks
of awesome beauty

Your silence speaks
of tranquillity and calm

Your silence speaks
of peace

Your silence speaks
of humble confidence

Your silence speaks
of love

As we gather together this morning give us an hour of quiet a moment of peace
and let us listen together
to your silence

© Clare McBeath and Tim Presswood, 2005